Big Jack - he now scales 260 pounds - was instrumental last; vear in the Giants' 47-7 rampage over the Chicago Bears in the NFL championship game. Some years Lavelle feels as though hes a Chicago native That many games there. This year he's been a constant visitor to Detroit having watched Cleveland a Browns there twice and San Francisco's 49ers against the Detroit Lions not to mention a college game or two in the area

What does Lavelle look for in a college player?

Needs Desire

"First you must pick on a college serior and find out if he has the desire to play professionally," says Lavelle

'After that you look him over on offense and defense how he fools his opponents and how they fool him. He must be able to run and he mist be able to block and

As for scouting teams for the Giants, Lavelle looks for many things such as information as to what you might do You try to ngure where your team is similar to the one you're watching

'You look for a defensive weakness in the secondary on pass plays or for men to make moves too fast

"The worst thing that can happen to a scout is to have the guy you scouted to get hurt In that case rod might just as well have been in the next town like some of the seats a scout gers at some, football parks '

Lavelie is as we'l known for his football scouting as for his after dinner speaking the rear around You might call him the poor mans Herman Bickman who went from Tennessee football to pro wrestling to speaking, to coaching Yae and

ATTENDANCE AT COLLEGE GRID

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr. The Associated Press

For the first time since 1954, attendance at major college foot ball games showed an over - all decrease during the 1957 season, an Associated Press survey of 116 leading institutions showed today. The decline was not severe, but it touched nearly every section of the United States and reversed the general rising trend that had existed since World War II.

And the loss of 159,602 spectators from last year's major college total of 13,926,810 might be considered significant in a season when professional football is headed for another attendance record and when college enrollments and alumni bodies are at a peak, Was Up In East

In terms of average attendance, the decline was 1.41 per centor about 400 spectators per game. In 1956, the 116 colleges played 566 home games before average crowds of 24,649. This year the same number of home games drew 13,731,208 spectators for an average of 24,250.

According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, American homeowners lose $270,000,000 a year due to household blazes, most of which are caused by accumulated trash.

The ideal way of overcoming this hazard is with an automatic gas incinerator. Modern, fully automatic gas incinerators are smokeless and odorless. Ready to go to work at any hour of the day or night, regardless of outside weather conditions, they take care of trash and garbage before they accumulate.

Incinerators bearing the Seal of Approval of the American Gas Association come in a variety of models, offering the buyer a wide choice in modern styling and automatic features. Some models are designed for kitchen installations, while others are primarily for use in basements and utility rooms. Local building codes an family preference generally guide the choice of location.

While not all gas companies sell incinerators, they will gladly advise customers on local building codes, available models, and other facts regarding incineration.

There is never any smoke or odor with gas incineration, which means cleaner homes and communities. Gas incinerators are self-cleaning and have such added features as press-on foot pedal to open the loading door, dehydra-

NCREASING numbers of house-heating customers are being served as a result of extensive development by gas companies of natural gas underground storage facilities in the United States. Such "warehousing" of natural gas has been increased about 17-fold in the past decade. Piped in during mild weather when demand is low, this gas will provide heat this winter for approximately 18 million homes.

A court fight was promised by a spokesman for the Real Estate Board of New York, one of the real estate groups which fought the measure during more than six months of bitter controversy and

The real estate board spokesman said the bill, if enacted into local law, "will be tested in the nighest courts because we believe that it violates the fundamental rights of the owners of private property."

AT THE SOUTH POLE (A-The first seismic soundings ever taken at the South Pole indicated today that 8,297 feet of ice and snow cover solid rock at the pole. The rock apparently rises 903 feet above sea level.

This information was obtained by the Rev. Daniel LLinehan, a Boston college seismologist, and a Navy crew.

They set off three shots of high explosives in a 600-foot line near the ring of oil barrels that marks the South Pole. The explosions sent earthquake-like waves down to bounce off the rock and echo back to electronic photo record-

RICHARD AND THE CIRCUS

It was late at night when the prince slipped out of his bed. When he had dressed he wrote a letter to the king.

"Dear Father," he wrote, "I know I make you angry because I am not very bright and I am a coward, people say. So I am going away and I won't come back until I can be a good prince, wise and brave, the way you want me to be " When he had finished the letter

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT . . . " seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing 58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button TorqueFlite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time-not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT . . . " seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing 58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button TorqueFlite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time-not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.

It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church requ-

as an example of what Christians could expect in their own lives Not every Christian meets Christ face to face as Pau' did on the Damascus road, but certainiv every Christian must experience the same self-examination. Each one must come to a realization of his own inadequacy and insufficiency, in other words, regardless of background, each person must know and feel his own spiritual needs. In Paul's case.

to find the new man. Spiritual Peritage

God had to uproot his whole nature

Paul had a great spiritual heritage from his Hebrew background. His family were of the tribe of Benjamin, he spoke the language. and observed the law and customs of his forefathers. His training was exceptional, for he had studied in the best Hebrew schools. He was proud and confident and decidedly zealous. We see his fanatacism as he explains, "as to zeal a persecutor of the church, as to righteousness under the law blameless."

Despite his training and zeal as an orthodox Je- Paul lacked something. His self-righteousness was a spiritual hindrance until he met Christ. After his conversion the new Saul (then Paul) knew that his souls need was suddenly satisfied. His whole spiritual outlook had changed. This is the reason he writes, "But whatever gain I had, I counted a loss for the sake of Christ."

Knowing Christ is the chief thing. It is not a matter of intellectual evaluation, but the total experience of the whole man. This means having fellowship with Christ, understanding His will for us, and being receptive to His Spirit. What then does man receive or experience? Paul answers, "Not having a righteousness of my own, based on law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness from God that depends on faith.

Accep God's Grace Rightetousness does not come from strict adherence to the law but by accepting God's grace and will. To lose the world and gain spiritual integrity is the heart of Paul's message. This is what Christ means to him and countless other faithful Christians. Not until we find righteousness in God, can we hope to deserve salvation This is the reason Paul urges the Philippians to press on as he is: 'But one thing I do, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead. I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." This new life to Christ must be abundantly evident. showing that one lives by God's grace and according to His Spirit Paul suggests how the Christians can be an influence in their community. He asks them to be a "colony" of Christ, a community which demonstrates to a heathen materialistic world what it means to be and live like a child of God In Philippi was a Roman "colony - a group of Roman families with official positions, living as they would in Rome, with Roman laws customs, and standards. Here was a great opportunity for the Philippians to witness to Christ. To really lay hold of the gospel the Christian must live in Christ, believe in Him humbly and implicitly. and seek righteousness -- a truly divine quality.
